Revelation 8:12 - Time is 50% faster now

Russia Ukraine could be the start of WW3. One prophecy (Revelation 8:12) has ALREADY been fulfilled!

https://twitter.com/@12_dot_news/status/1462257104039906885

When you get to the Timed08 page, read the quote from the 1997 newsletter. If part 8 (Revelation 8:12) has already been fulfilled, then what does that tell you about part 8 (the battle of Armageddon)?

After you've read the material:

Below is a rebuttal to the naysayers. If you haven't already done so, please visit Rev812.com and then read the primer and TimeOff (they can be read in under 15 minutes) before continuing.

REBUTTAL

Before going any further, make sure you have read the primer and TimeOff. This is your final warning.

When something hits too close to home, people suddenly become very dismissive about it. They love to ridicule the newsgroup and they believe that groupthink can automatically override the newsgroup. The bottom line is that Dale Duff and I really did perfect the counting to 10 calendar on Sagittarius Earth, so we know it is 100% FACT that this is a different planet. Furthermore, our claim about the 24 hours being so "good" that it ended up perfectly aligning with someone else's interpretation of Revelation 8:12. And everyone reading this should know why they perfectly aligned. You know it wasn't simply dumb luck. Please stop fooling yourself and deal with reality.

Time cannot magically get 50% faster unless you start off on one planet and then go to another planet. In other words, it could not have the case that Earth's 24 hours suddenly became shorter than one day, all of a sudden, time became 50% faster. Well, that's more, aspects of the Revelation Effect will continue to unfold, but the Revelation Effect is not a magic wand. It cannot make Earth's 24 hours suddenly shorter. Which is "fast" compared to what? Which "fast" is supposed to be the "fast" that we are used to? It is not possible to count to 10 in 50% seconds, which is "Place B" (where we too dismissive to be concerned with one another. And thus, the following scenario is NOT reasonably possible (that is to say, all other things being equal, such a discrepancy between perception and reality is impossible): Person A says that someone has a friend who has used Place A to count to 10 hundreds, of times in his life for the purpose of counting to 10 in 10.00 seconds; then one day, he discovers (in conversation with Person B) that his friend has been using Place B to count to 10 in 5.00 seconds. In this scenario, firstly, take into consideration that the two pace are completely different from one another, secondly, take into consideration that, over the years, Person A has become somewhat of an expert at counting to 10 (with the ability to get between 9.50 seconds of 10.00 seconds on most occasions) and, thirdly, take into consideration that, to Person A, his recollection (i.e., ZERO MEMORY) of ever using Place B in his entire life. Note: Please do not react to this information by engaging in any sort of mental gymnastics, and please do not try to jump through hoops to "explain away" the scenario. Instead, now would be a good time to read the first two sentences of this paragraph again.

Bear in mind, in this rebuttal, I've only been talking about the time difference (as opposed to also talking about where my heart used to beat, who used to be on the dime, how human duds used to look like, et cetera). In July 2019, I felt my heart beating at the center of my chest for the first time in years. I'm not talking about the "pitter-patter" of my heart beating in my chest, and this incident occurred before I knew anatomical changes were a component of the Mandela Effect. As you read this rebuttal, I'm only talking about the time difference. Eventually, I'm going to get to the point where I can eventually reach a point where your counterargument is no longer reasonable because it involves too many contradictions.

In regard to people saying that my claim about the time difference is based on the Bible: By mid-August of 2019, I had already made the claim that this planet is a replica version of the real Earth (my claim was based on things such as the Revelation Effect and the Mandela Effect). Furthermore, I had made the claim that I had "perfected" counting to 10 (September 2018) that I found out about FOR being on the dime instead of Earth (I found out about the dime in September, I found out about the time difference. And then 10 months after that (on July 19th, 2020), I discovered Revelation 8:12. So, no, my claim about the time difference is not "based on the Bible."

In conclusion, I made the claim (with 100% certainty) about days being 16 hours long without even knowing about the existence of Revelation 8:12. In other words, what happened and documented in 2019 proves that the Bible is indeed, true. Ultimately, one's worldview should be based on that which actually exists and that which is actually true. I would hazard a guess that your current worldview is based, however, on something fabricated by people who are very reasonable. Keep in mind, a long standing falsehood that seems very, very, very reasonable is still a falsehood nonetheless. Frankly, I think it's high time you re-examined your worldview. So, let me ask you this: All these years, what exactly have you been getting your knowledge from?

Here are some questions for Christians, namely Catholics, Protestants, and Mormons: Will you foolishly decide to ignore all of this information? If you had been around when Noah was building the Ark, would you have been Team Noah (i.e., a supporter of Noah's mission) or would you have been Team Ignorant Massive (i.e., a member of the worldly mob that ignorant massed)? Are you currently a member of the worldly minded, ignorant massed? Are you worse about your answer to the question than you were in 2019? Are you willing to admit that you were wrong? Are you willing to re-examine your version of the end times (come to Rushion)? At the end of the day, when all is said and done, does your version of the end times have any basis in reality? Which one is more important, that which is actually true in regard to the end times or your version of the end times? Do you plan on telling your family the truth about Revelation 8:12? Why is everyone (i.e., the mainstream media, the "alternative" media—a.k.a. the mainstream media part 2, all governments, all think tanks, all universities, all scientists, all doctors, all lawyers, all accountants, all engineers, all businessmen, all CEOs) so much rather said that this information has NEVER had to be "fully in court" (unlike, say, the Flat Earth theory or the Gilman belief system)? Why are you pro life but not pro truth? And finally, is there a chance that being anti-truth could get you from entering Heaven (keep in mind what Jesus said regarding the truth)? I could go on (much me), but I will stop right here.

And just to prove a point, I said all of this without even mentioning the Hidden Hand dialogue.

PUTTING IT ALL TOGETHER

Micah, Matthew, and Revelation:

- Micah 2:12 (KJV) tells us that God will gather the remnant of Israel (i.e., the elect) and then put them together in one place. "Bozrah" is mentioned.
- Matthew 24:22 (KJV) tells us that during the Great Tribulation, the days will be shortened for the elect's sake. Thus, one way or another, the elect will experience shorter days during the Great Tribulation. Note: In the Bible, we are never told that the Great Tribulation will take place only on Earth. And by now, you should realize that this all kicks off on a different planet. Furthermore, Revelation 8:12 ties in with the concept of time becoming 50% faster via "magic." So, please go read those two sentences once again.

Now, think: How can the days be shortened (that is, time magically get faster) for the elect without an interplanetary transfer taking place? Remember, if you stay on the initial planet (in this case, Earth), then there is no way that time can magically get faster. Well, Revelation 8:12 ties in with Micah 2:12 and Matthew 24:22 (and, of course, Micah 2:12 that God literally planned on transferring the elect to a special location (that is from Bozrah to Bozrah). So, basically, if Micah 2:12 did not exist, Matthew 24:22 would read, "Those days shall not be shortened for the elect's sake because well, the elect will still be on Earth. Sorry, Sally, Nothing to see here. Better luck next time."

To make this crystal clear: We have a verse from the Old Testament (Micah 2:12) that talks about the eventual transfer of God's elect to "Bozrah," and then we have a verse from the New Testament (Matthew 24:22) that talks about the shortened days (i.e., time getting faster) for God's elect during the Great Tribulation. And no, it's not a coincidence. It means that Earth's one planet and Bozrah is another planet, and if you want from Earth to Bozrah, you are going to be shortened because time is faster on Bozrah. Last but not least, Revelation 8:12 (below) gives us the key detail that Matthew 24:22 omits.

- Revelation 8:12 (KJV) tells us that the days will be shortened by exactly eight hours. Never forget. In 2019, I was able to discover the eight-hour difference WITHOUT the help of Revelation 8:12. I had already perfected the counting to 10 calendar on Earth (i.e., the real Earth), so when I counted to 10 on this planet (i.e., Bozrah), exactly 10.00 seconds elapsed. That is to say, there was a five-second difference, which amounts to an eight-hour difference for each 24-hour cycle on Bozrah.

Regarding the actual transfer of the elect from Earth to Bozrah, the Bible does not give us an explicit description of how it is accomplished. Instead, we are given an extremely opaque, symbolic description. In Revelation 12:14 (KJV), we are told that a woman is given "two wings of a great eagle" and she flies away from "Ye little the wilderness," arriving at a place that was "prepared for her" (Revelation 12:14, 6:8). The length of time that she is nourished at her "place" is described as "a time, and times, and half a time" (Revelation 12:14). Now, we are told that this is the Great Tribulation. And that is, of course, 3.5 years. However, when considering the events described in Revelation 12:14 (KJV) alongside Revelation 12:14, the total duration of the woman's absence from Earth equates to seven years—that is, seven Earth years or 10.5 Bozrah years—the full span of the Tribulation. In other words, her time of being at the place located in "the wilderness" is not limited to the latter half of the Tribulation (i.e., the Great Tribulation). Rather, it encompasses the entire Tribulation period.

Please note the following:

Note 1 – Before Jesus goes to Earth for the Second Coming, he will first come here (that is, to Bozrah) and slaughter many, many people during his "day" (that is, years) of vengeance (Jeremiah 49:22, Isaiah 34:6, VOICE → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Jeremiah 49:22, KJV → Isaiah 63:1, KJV → Isaiah 63:1, KJV → Isaiah 63:4, NRSV/VE → Isaiah 63:4, CEV → Isaiah 63:4, NIV/E → Isaiah 63:4, CSB → Isaiah 34:8, CSB, Isaiah 34:8, NIV/E → Isaiah 34:8, KJV → Isaiah 34:8, KJV → Isaiah 34:8, KJV). Based on Isaiah 34, we can conclude that Bozrah will be turned into some sort of hellscape. As a side note, Revelation 14:20 (KJV) tells us that the blood will be "sixty" (Revelation 14:20, KJV → Revelation 14:20, KJV) the elect will accompany Jesus back to Earth. For more information on this, see Notes 15, 16, and 19.

Note 2 – No, I am not saying that "LGBT" is mentioned in some versions of Isaiah 34:14, such as Isaiah 34:14 (VOICE) and Isaiah 34:14 (MSG). Based on the information in this video (especially at the 2:05 mark), one could easily surmise that 34 is the masharah of Earth and LGBT is the masharah of Bozrah, but I digress.

Note 3 – Can you imagine all the people who have died and thought they had spent their entire lives on Earth, when in fact they had been living on an impostor planet the whole time?

Note 4 – No true Christian would ever refer to this planet as "Earth." Doing so would be EXTREMELY heretical. This planet was never Earth, and it never will.

Note 5 – Revelation 8:12 describes a planet (furthermore, in ancient times, the city of Bozrah was the capital of the Kingdom of Edom). Edom was the father of the Edomites, Israel was the father of Tribes and Esau's twin brother, Jacob. And, well, there's a story. "And Esau said unto his father, Bless me, even me also, O my father. And he said, Thy brother came with subtlety, and hath taken your blessing. Esau lifted up his voice and wept. And Isaac his father answered and said unto him, Behold, thy dwelling shall be of the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above. And by thy sword shalt thou live, and shalt serve thy brother; and it shall come to pass when thou shalt have the dominion, that thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck" (Genesis 27:38-40, KJV). So, what exactly is going on here? Twin brothers. Twin planets. Heck, even in our own bodies, this "worship" theme is evidently clear. Look at the eyes and lungs, for example. I guess creating "twin" organs is a bit tricky. Hey, God's a miracle operator. Go figure.

Note 6 – While Revelation 8:12 (KJV) describes the eight-hour time difference that the elect will experience on Bozrah, Revelation 8:13 (KJV) quickly shifts the focus back to Earth, warning those who were not taken to Bozrah about the final three years. Revelation 8:13 (KJV) mentions "woe" three times. Interestingly, the Greek word for woe (ouai) is also a phrase instead of a noun (generic term like "everyone," "all of you," "mankind," or even "the people of the world"). The choice of "inhabiter" is significant, as it specifically refers to people who are CURRENTLY living on the planet, as opposed to either those who were born on Earth but died before the end of the moment such as the elect who were taken to Bozrah, the people of Bozrah themselves. And just to be clear, in a perfect world, Revelation 8:13 would have begun like this: "And I beheld, and heard an angel flying back to Earth from Bozrah through the Milky Way Galaxy." But unfortunately, in our not-so-perfect reality, all we ended up getting was this: "And I beheld, and heard an angel flying through the midst of heaven."

Note 7 – In addition to all the Bible verses I've already mentioned, Matthew 24:24 (VOICE) is yet another verse that proves that, during the Great Tribulation, the elect are on Bozrah, not Earth. Why? Well, Matthew 24:22 (KJV → verse which hints at the eight hour time difference that the elect will experience in Bozrah). This distinction is important, because, if the elect were still on Earth, then it would be possible for them to be "deceived" (Matthew 24:24, KJV) of the false Christs and false prophets and thus they could potentially be sent according to the Bible, would actually be deceived by them. In other words, on Earth, their chances of being deceived would be anything from non-zero to 100 percent. However, when considering the events described in Revelation 12:14 (KJV) alongside Revelation 12:14, the total duration of the woman's absence from Earth equates to seven years—that is, seven Earth years or 10.5 Bozrah years—the full span of the Tribulation. In other words, her time of being at the place located in "the wilderness" is not limited to the latter half of the Tribulation (i.e., the Great Tribulation). Rather, it encompasses the entire Tribulation period.

Note 8 – Can you imagine all the people who have died and thought they had spent their entire lives on Earth, when in fact they had been living on an impostor planet the whole time?

Note 9 – No true Christian would ever refer to this planet as "Earth." Doing so would be EXTREMELY heretical. This planet was never Earth, and it never will.

Note 10 – Revelation 8:12 describes a planet (furthermore, in ancient times, the city of Bozrah was the capital of the Kingdom of Edom). Edom was the father of the Edomites, Israel was the father of Tribes and Esau's twin brother, Jacob. And, well, there's a story. "And Esau said unto his father, Bless me, even me also, O my father. And he said, Thy brother came with subtlety, and hath taken your blessing. Esau lifted up his voice and wept. And Isaac his father answered and said unto him, Behold, thy dwelling shall be of the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above. And by thy sword shalt thou live, and shalt serve thy brother; and it shall come to pass when thou shalt have the dominion, that thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck" (Genesis 27:38-40, KJV). So, what exactly is going on here? Twin brothers. Twin planets. Heck, even in our own bodies, this "worship" theme is evidently clear. Look at the eyes and lungs, for example. I guess creating "twin" organs is a bit tricky. Hey, God's a miracle operator. Go figure.

Note 11 – Here's my post about Capricorn One.

Note 12 – In contemplating the vast and complex nature of the revelations presented in this post, I was struck by a thought that, while initially speculative, seemed worth considering. Here it is: Could the insights and interpretations offered here, in their TOTALITY, be seen as the fulfillment of Revelation 10:7? I certainly think so. The verse states, "But in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he shall begin to sound, the mystery of God should be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the prophets" (Revelation 10:7, KJV). Well, first of all, given that the sounding of the seventh angel's trumpet is said to last for three and a half years (Revelation 11:15 and Revelation 12:14), it's important to take into account the length of time the elect have been away from Earth on Bozrah. Furthermore, time dilation is obviously important when it comes to prophecies, in regard to the question, "On what date was this prophecy actually fulfilled?" my best guess would be December 7, 2021. Thus, versions of this post prior to that date should not be considered as having fulfilled the prophecy. And by the way, please take note of the Bible's chronology: Revelation 10:7 (the mystery of God should be finished) comes before Revelation 11:15 (the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Lord), which, for Bozrah, it marks the end of Earth's mystery (i.e., the Rudolph post). This actual fulfillment arises, critical textbook discovered the Bible's multifaceted approach and the interconnectedness of its prophetic messages. Lastly, here is Revelation 10:7-7 (KJV): "And the Angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven, And swore by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things that therein are, that time should be no more: but in the days of the voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to blow the trumpet, even the mystery of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets."

Note 13 – If you're trying to determine when Jesus will arrive on Bozrah for the day of vengeance (and you've taken into account the above info regarding Revelation 12& and Revelation 12:14), then this Mandela Effect video from Dan Harmony will definitely help! What's more, when doing your calculations, don't forget to factor in the length of Jesus's stay on Bozrah. Well, Revelation 14:20 (KJV) tells us that the blood will be "sixty" (Revelation 14:20, KJV → Revelation 14:20, KJV) here. So, the day of vengeance will last for either 1.5 Bozrah years (sixty days) or 3 Bozrah years (sixty days + sixty days). Earth year or 1 Bozrah year). Thus, the final calculation will be either 10.5 minus 1.5 or 10.5 minus 3 (i.e., the elect's total time away from Earth minus the length of the day of vengeance). That comes out to either 9 Bozrah years or 8.5 Bozrah years, respectively (this number, which is extremely important, gives you the length of time between the elect's arrival on Bozrah and the start of the day of vengeance). If you're going by Bozrah years, the length of the day of vengeance is 1 year. In other words, if you're assuming that it will be 1 Earth year instead of 1 Bozrah year), another way to do the calculation is to take the length of the day of vengeance (1 Bozrah year) and add it to the length of time the elect will be on Bozrah (9 years in a total of 8 Earth years). And then, multiply it by 1.5 (Bozrah time), and you get 9 Bozrah years. Finally, you can decide when the "clock" started. For example: Assuming that the day of vengeance lasts for 1.5 Bozrah years (and thus, there are 9 Bozrah years between the elect's arrival and the start of the day of vengeance) and that the day of vengeance will be carried in, say, February 2015, then that means the day of vengeance would start in February 2024 and end in August 2025 (Bozrah time). Thus, the final day of the Tribulation (i.e., 3.5 BCE) would take place on Earth in 2025. This information, from Edom, from Bozrah, with his garments stained crimson? (Isaiah 63:1, NIV). As an aside, may I ask: At what point does someone finally give up on the single planet narrative? As illustration below, in Note 15, the "Time Gate" (Earth) is the worldview isn't even logical.

Note 14 – The possibility of some Bozrah nations hitching a ride to Earth with Jesus and the elect is indeed high. On the one hand, Matthew 24:29-31 (AMP) describes only Jesus and the elect in regard to The Glorious Return. Yet at the end of the sign of the Son of Man (coming in His glory) will appear in the sky, and then all the tribes of the earth (and especially Israel) will mourn (regarding their relation and rejection of the Messiah), and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory (in brilliance and splendor). And He will send His angels with a loud trumpet and they will gather together His elect (God's chosen, those who are from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other" (Matthew 24:30-31, AMP). However, Isaiah 56:8 offers a broader perspective. Isaiah 56:8 (KJV) states, "This is the word of the Lord GOD which gathereth the outcasts of Israel, Yet will I gather others to him, besides those that are gathered." Interestingly, Ezekiel 39:28 (AMP) states, "The Lord GOD said, I will gather them together out of the heathen, and gather them together out of the lands of their enemies, and I will be sanctified in them (Israel) to those (already) gathered."

Note 15 – Here's another revelation for you all: The notion of God's elect and the Antichrist residing on the same planet, Earth, is a fundamental component of the Mandela Effect. Well, Revelation 8:12 (KJV) ties in with the Mandela Effect (allowing us to understand this SHIFTLESS concept!) Clearly, during the reign of the Antichrist, if he's on Earth (i.e., Planet B), then there has to be some sort of sanctuary planet—that is, a Planet B—where the elect are temporarily placed. I think you know what "Planet B" is. And hopefully, by now, you understand that "Planet B" reference as well (wink-wink, nudge-nudge). Yeah, God truly is smarter than your average bear. Oh, wait. Let me try that again: Yeah, God truly is smarter than your Average Bear. So, anyway, now you know why this planet is not called "New Edom" or something like that.

Note 16 – Thankfully, there will be no "Millennial Kingdom" on this counterfeit, Edomite planet. It would have lasted for 1,000 Bozrah years, but only 666.67 Earth years. And Jesus's wife wouldn't even documented contempt for the Bozrah. Here's a very good chance the kingdom would've been ruled by Esau himself or some other Edomite leader—in other words, someone who is not Jesus. "Here is wisdom. Let the person who has understanding reckon (calculate) the number of the beast; for it is the (human) number of a man and his number is six hundred and sixty-six" (Revelation 13:18, AMP). So, you know, if Jesus's wife wasn't even a human being, the Millennial Kingdom would be a human-led, 666-year-long, Bozrah Kingdom ruled by Esau, Bozrah's Millennial Kingdom. Furthermore, the reason for the mockery becomes quite evident once you read Ezekiel 16:8 and Isaiah 63:1-6 (KJV) are taken into consideration. Now, keep in mind: In order to capture the inauthenticity and fraudulent nature of a 666-year "millennial" kingdom that doesn't even involve Jesus, ideally, one would want the 666 is an "Edomite number," a "worldly number," or "mankind's number" (as opposed to it being a "divine number" or "heavenly number"). Well, Revelation 13:18 (KJV) does exactly that. Furthermore, the Bible's use of the word "man" (which is close to the verbiage in some versions of Revelation 13:18) strike most versions of the verse, which state that 666 is either "the number of a man" or "the number of a person," the GNB, NRSV, and RSV versions state that 666 is "a human number," while the LEB and NET versions state that it is "man's number." In addition, the ESV version states that it is "a human multitude" (which, in this context, basically means, "a big, human-related number"). And finally, even a footnote in the NIV version acknowledges that "humanity's number" could possibly be the correct translation for the phrase "the number of a man." The bottom line is this: Compared to the actual Millennial Kingdom—a 1,000-year reign of Christ on Earth that will be defined by its peace and righteousness—the Bozrah version would be a human-led, 666-year-long, Edomite Kingdom.

Note 17 – Bozrah's Book of Revelation math is quick dirty (not dirty): First, consider Revelation 8:12 (KJV), which informs us about the Bozrah hour-time difference. On Bozrah, 24 hours long—one third of the sun, one third of the moon, and one third of the stars—becomes, well, two-thirds of an Earth day remains. Next, consider Revelation 13:18 (AMP), which mentions, "…the (imperfect) number of a man…" Well, Revelation 13:18 (AMP) tells us that the (imperfect) number of a man is six hundred and sixty-six (666). Finally, consider Revelation 20:2 (ERV) speaks of Jesus's Millennial Kingdom. It will last on Earth just on Bozrah and last for 1,000 Earth years. And thus, two-thirds of 1,000 Earth years equals 666.67 Earth years—in other words, a Bozrah millennium. Revelation 13:18 (AMP) aptly states, "Here is wisdom. Let the person who has enough insight calculate the number of the beast, for it is the (imperfect) number of a man; and his number is six hundred and sixty-six."

Note 18 – Picture a world masquerading as Earth, a cosmic doppelgänger. In this hypothetical world, time ticks differently, the human anatomy is vastly different, and it is governed by a tribe that is destined for an apocalyptic downfall. Moreover, envision this hypothetical world as also being a sanctuary—a refuge for God's elect—that is isolated from the chaos of the Antichrist's reign. This sanctuary planet, while seemingly decent, is not the alpha planet. It's not the alpha Earth. It's not the Earth that Jesus walked on, the Earth where Noah built the Ark, the Earth where the Flood took place. In other words, the other Earth, the other Earth that has ever graced the existence of Earth's one and only Jesus? Have you ever contemplated how such a planet fits into the cosmic chess moves of a deity who is playing a game far beyond the common man's understanding? If such thoughts never fan fleched or even nonsensical, then brace yourself for a revelation akin to discovering you're on an island when you thought you were on the mainland. As you read this, you're not just imagining that other version of Earth—you're also living one.

Note 19 – Imagine that other version of Earth, where you're on Earth and the Antichrist is wreaking havoc (and God's elect are not present), or you're on Bozrah and there is no Antichrist and God's elect are present. Can you guess which planet you're on? Remember, Scripture states, "And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened" (Matthew 24:22, KJV). Well, by now, you already know all about the "eight-hour" time difference that's the existence of 16-hour days instead of 24-hour days due to this planet's time being 50% faster (Revelation 8:12). Well, if you're on Bozrah, the elect's sake is why those days are shortened. Why? Because they escaped your world. Is it this: If the person who is experiencing shortened days is not experiencing or witnessing ANY events of the Tribulation (whether we're talking about events from the first 3.5 years or the latter 3.5 years), then that person cannot possibly be resting on Earth. They are, by default, resting on some other planet (i.e., a sanctuary planet or "Planet B"). And if you think about it, it absolutely makes sense that they're resting on another planet, considering that their days are—you know—SHORTENED. Also, it goes without saying that the sanctuary arrangement is temporary. After all, it's not as if the Tribulation period is some sort of "blank check." It doesn't last for multiple decades or anything like that. Well, if you're on Earth and you're not in the Bozrah sanctuary, then you're experiencing the Tribulation period in full and others still make the same mistake as the common man in the days of Noah. Well, see: Our can only hope that, through the Revelation, and other mindless, uncomprehension, and wisdom that dominate the human psyche, rather than thoughtlessness, disorganized, and mindless inconsideration.

Hold on, if this is Bozrah and not Earth, doesn't that mean your source material is the Bozrah Bible? How can we tell what's from Earth and what's Bozrah?

I will put them together AS the sheep OF Bozrah. Not to. He did not say He would PUT THEM TOGETHER THERE, it reads I will put them TOGETHER AS THE SHEEP OF BOZRAH.

The wording in Micah 2:12 (KJV) makes perfect sense. Trying to force the word "to" or "there" into the verse completely changes the meaning. Micah 2:12 (KJV) is describing the gathering of the remnant of Israel to Bozrah. This is all in Note 5, by the way. First, see Isaiah 63:1 (EASV). Then, see Isaiah 63:4 (CEV) and Isaiah 63:4 (NIRV). And finally, see Micah 2:13 (AMP) and Matthew 24:29-31 (AMP).
